AFNS DAY-1

Lecture #0: Orientation, AFNS Vacancies, Courses, Instructor & Academy Introduction

Assalam-o-Alaikum future AFNS officers. Welcome to the first orientation lecture of AFNS preparation by EduSmart Academy. This lecture is designed to guide students about AFNS vacancies, free and paid preparation courses, instructor introduction, academy background, passing ratio, and selection ratio.

Before starting academic preparation, every candidate must understand the complete journey of AFNS. Many students begin preparation without knowing when vacancies are announced, when tests are conducted, what course options are available, and how much preparation is required. This orientation lecture will provide a clear roadmap for all serious candidates.

Topic 1: AFNS Vacancies — When Are They Announced?

AFNS stands for Armed Forces Nursing Service. It is an excellent career opportunity for female candidates who want to join Pakistan Army as nursing officers. AFNS vacancies are usually announced in June or July every year.

After the announcement of vacancies, online registration starts for eligible candidates. Students are advised to keep checking official announcements and academy updates during June and July so they do not miss the registration deadline.

The AFNS initial test is usually conducted in August or September. This means students have limited time after the announcement, so preparation should not be delayed until the advertisement appears.

Important Timeline

| Stage                       | Expected Time                |
|-----------------------------|------------------------------|
| AFNS Vacancies Announcement | June–July                    |
| Online Registration         | After official advertisement |
| Initial Test                | August–September             |
| Medical & Further Selection | After passing initial test   |
| Final Merit                 | February                     |

Students should start preparation before the announcement of vacancies. Waiting for the advertisement can waste valuable time. Serious candidates should begin preparation from June so they can revise, practice mock tests, and improve weak areas before the real exam.

|----------------------|-----|

Understanding Passing Ratio and Selection Ratio

Passing ratio means the percentage of students who successfully pass the initial stages of the AFNS test after preparation.

Selection ratio means the percentage of students who finally get selected after completing all stages of selection, including test, medical, interview, and final merit.

"This lecture (7-Days Free Coaching Classes for AFNS) is created by Sir Muhammad Faizan (Ex-Airforce) EduSmart Academy. If you want to take paid classes for AFNS, contact 03066892208."

Students must understand that final selection is always competitive. Passing the test is important, but final selection depends on complete performance and merit.

Dear future AFNS officers, AFNS is not only a test; it is a complete selection journey. You need preparation, discipline, confidence, and correct guidance. Vacancies are usually announced in June or July, and tests are usually conducted in August or September. Therefore, this is the right time to start preparation.

EduSmart Academy provides both free and paid preparation opportunities. Students who are beginners can join the 7-days free coaching community. Students who want serious preparation can choose the Complete Course or Quick Course according to their need.

Your success depends on your consistency, effort, and seriousness. Start early, attend lectures regularly, practice mock tests, revise daily, and stay connected with authentic updates.
